

ABOUT ERROL DENTON CERTIFIED NUTRITIONAL MICROSCOPIST

As a tournament tennis player Errol always searched for an edge in performance through optimum nutrition.

Disillusioned with western medicine he studied a degree in Traditional Chinese Medicine. He has also qualified as a personal trainer with Fit to Perform and WABBA. Errol always believed that the natural and holistic way was the key to obtaining optimum health and vitality. He also believed that the foundation of health is based on the blood.

When the opportunity to study live blood microscopy in America presented itself he immediately seized upon it because he saw it as the future in determining true health at a cellular level. Since becoming a certified Microscopist in 2005 and incorporating it into the healing arts he has had phenomenal success improving clients' overall health, fitness and wellness; so much so that almost all his work comes from referrals.

Errol firmly believes that the key to true health is the creation of healthy red blood cells through the correct lifestyle and nutrition habits and many people are already reaping the benefits of this revolutionary natural approach.

Who is the test for?

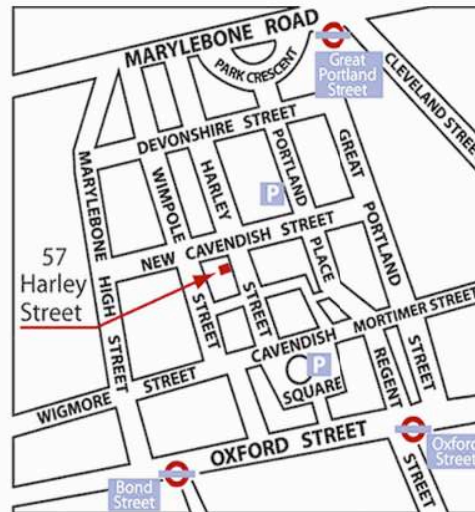

This test is for everyone it gives you a true picture of your cellular world. Your blood never lies which allows you to take responsibility for your health. Remember you are what you eat so: 'Let your food be your medicine and your medicine be your food'
